

Welcome CEHA Annual Education Symposium (AES) enrollees:

The Sacramento Environmental Commission (SEC) is pleased to welcome back members of the California Environmental Health Association (CEHA) to Sacramento for the 2018 AES.

The role of the CEHA and the AES is critically important in continuing the education of environmental health professionals on numerous complex, and often, controversial issues that put our environment at risk. The excellent sessions being offered enable advancing technical understanding, information sharing, networking, and training of environmental health specialist throughout California.

The SEC along with staff of the Sacramento County Environmental Management Department wish you a successful symposium and hope you enjoy a true confluence of people and environment.

Sincerely,

Richard Hunn
SEC Chair
